New Industry to Polk County acquires Cedartown Speculative Building

Cedartown, GA. –

The Development Authority of Polk County (DAPC) is pleased to announce yet another success with Oldcastle APG's purchase of the 100,000 sq foot Cedartown Spec-Building located in the Cedartown North Business Park. The company's investment in Polk County will initially create 20 jobs, and 45 when at full capacity.

"We are excited to welcome Oldcastle APG as new corporate citizens," said Jamie Morris, DAPC Chairman. "This was truly a coordinated effort with the Polk County Development Authority Board, Polk County government, Cedartown city officials, and Georgia Power. We have seen a lot of activity recently and see more on the horizon. We are also fortunate on the timing with the onboarding of new DAPC President/ CEO, Chris Thomas, who assisted in securing and closing the deal."

Scott Wiltsey, General Manager, Oldcastle APG says, "Recently Oldcastle APG acquired property in Floyd County with the intentions of constructing a new facility; however, to meet growing customer demands and the need for a shorter development timeline, we were fortunate to have discovered the Cedartown spec building. This move will best meet our speed to market needs".

Oldcastle APG will begin modifications to the building immediately with plans to be operational by mid September. The company is already actively recruiting for site leadership and key production positions.
